

Dorothy Ashby

- 1932-1986

(born in Detroit, Michigan, USA; died in Santa Monica, California, USA)

- Initially played the piano. Also learned about music from her father, a jazz guitarist
 - Learned the harp at Cass Technical High School in Detroit, a public school with a harp program
 - Primarily a jazz harpist, but also included other styles of music in her playing, including R&B and world music
 - Made 11 solo recordings including Afro-Harping, The Jazz Harpist, and Hip Harp
- Her husband, John Ashby, was a drummer and they played together in a trio
 - Won Down Beat magazine's critics' and readers' award for best jazz performer in 1962

